FACT SHEET

August 2010

Judicial Council Committees

The Judicial Council performs much of its work with the assistance of its internal committees. The four internal committees are made up of Judicial Council members. The Chair of the Judicial Council also may appoint advisory committees and task forces to advise the council on improving the administration of justice. The compositions of the Judicial Council and advisory committee memberships are specified in the California Rules of Court. The nomination process for the council and advisory committees encourages the participation of judges, court officials, and attorneys from throughout the state.

Internal Committees

A report or recommendation from an advisory committee generally goes to one of the following internal committees. The internal committee reviews it and forwards it to the Judicial Council with recommendations for action.

The Executive and Planning Committee directs and oversees the conduct of business and the operating procedures of the Judicial Council; oversees the development of the council's strategic plan for the judicial branch; develops and conducts the council's annual planning workshop; ensures that the judicial branch budget is tied to strategic plan goals; and serves as the nominating committee for vacancies on the council and its advisory committees. E&P also oversees certain council advisory bodies, as assigned by the Chief Justice, ensuring that their activities are consistent with the council's goals and policies

The Litigation Management Committee oversees litigation and claims against trial and appellate courts, the Judicial Council, the AOC, or employees of those bodies that seek significant recovery or raise important policy issues.

The Policy Coordination and Liaison Committee represents the Judicial Council in its relations with other agencies and entities, such as the Legislature, the Governor's Office, the State Bar, local government, volunteer bar associations, and other court-related professional associations; reviews and makes recommendations on proposals for Judicial Council-sponsored legislation; reviews pending bills; and determines the council's policy positions and directs advocacy for those positions.

The Rules and Projects Committee directs and oversees the development of, and assists the council in making informed decisions about, California Rules of Court, California Standards of Judicial Administration, Judicial Council forms, and Judicial Council jury instructions; assists the Judicial Council in exercising its rule-making authority under article VI, section 6 of the California Constitution; establishes and maintains a rule-making process that is understandable and accessible to justice system partners and the public; and oversees advisory committees and task forces, as assigned by the Chief Justice, ensuring that their activities are consistent with the council's goals and policies.

Advisory Committees

To lead advancement toward the cause of consistent, impartial, independent, and accessible administration of justice, the Judicial Council must be apprised of the issues and concerns confronting the judiciary, the courts, and the public who use the courts and of appropriate solutions and responses. Advisory committees meet this need by regularly monitoring areas of the law, identifying innovative practices to improve the administration of justice in the state, and making recommendations to the council. An advisory committee's membership consists of leaders in subject areas of law from around the state.

The Access and Fairness Advisory Committee monitors issues, proposed court policies and procedures, and education programs related to access to the judicial system and fairness in the state courts and provides policy direction in these areas. The committee is organized into five subcommittees to address racial and ethnic fairness, sexual orientation fairness, gender fairness, access for persons with disabilities, and issues of concern to women of color.

The Administrative Presiding Justices Advisory Committee improves appellate court justices' participation in the Judicial Council's decision-making process; identifies issues of concern to the courts; and addresses legislative and budget issues related to the appellate courts.

The Advisory Committee on Civil Jury Instructions regularly reviews case law and statutes that affect jury instructions and makes recommendations to the council for updating, amending, or adding topics to the council's civil jury instructions.

The Advisory Committee on Criminal Jury Instructions regularly reviews case law and statutes that affect jury instructions and makes recommendations to the council for updating, amending, or adding topics to the council's criminal jury instructions.

Effective June 24, 2010, the Advisory Committee on Financial Accountability and Efficiency for the Judicial Branch was created to promote transparency, accountability, efficiency, and understanding of the Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) and the judicial branch. The advisory committee fosters the best use of the work, information, and recommendations provided by the AOC, and it promotes increased understanding of the AOC's mission, responsibilities, accomplishments, and challenges. The advisory committee is a standing committee of the Judicial Council. Its charge is to review and recommend on budget change proposals for the AOC, changes in the annual compensation plan for the AOV, and financial audit reports for judicial branch entities.

The Appellate Advisory Committee makes recommendations to the Judicial Council for improving the administration of justice in appellate proceedings, including on matters related to appellate rules, forms, and standards and legislation that may impact appellate courts or appellate procedure.

The Civil and Small Claims Advisory Committee identifies the issues and concerns confronting the judiciary in the areas of civil procedure, practice, and case management (including small claims) and suggests solutions and responses.

The Collaborative Justice Courts Advisory Committee makes recommendations to the council for developing collaborative justice courts such as drug courts, mental health courts, youth courts, homeless courts, domestic violence courts, and other problem-solving courts; improving the processing of cases in these courts; and overseeing the evaluation of collaborative justice courts throughout the state.

The Court Executives Advisory Committee works to enhance trial courts' access to and participation in the Judicial Council's decision-making process; reviews rules, forms, standards, studies, and recommendations for court administration that are proposed to the council by advisory committees or task forces and evaluates the administrative and operational impact on the trial courts; identifies issues of concern to the courts, including legislative issues, that should be addressed by the council or one of its advisory committees or task forces; and facilitates communication between the council and the trial courts.

The Court Interpreters Advisory Panel promotes access to spoken-language interpreters and interpreters for deaf and hearing-impaired persons by making recommendations to the council on language use and the need for interpreters in court proceedings, and on certification, registration, testing, recruitment, training, continuing education, and professional conduct of court interpreters.

The Court Technology Advisory Committee promotes, coordinates, and facilitates the application of technology to the work of the courts. The committee is charged with establishing standards to ensure technological compatibility; facilitating court technology projects funded in whole or in part by the state; proposing rules, standards, or legislation to ensure privacy, access, and security; and assisting courts in acquiring and developing useful technology solutions.

The Criminal Law Advisory Committee identifies the issues and concerns confronting the judiciary in the areas of criminal procedure, practice, and case management and suggests solutions and responses.

The Family and Juvenile Law Advisory Committee identifies important issues in cases involving families, children, self-represented litigants, and individuals seeking or responding to domestic violence restraining orders, and reviews pending legislation, mandated studies, and suggestions from the public on those issues. It then recommends to the Judicial Council improvements in procedures and practices; changes in rules, forms, or standards; or other appropriate action.

The Governing Committee of the Center for Judicial Education and Research (CJER) develops recommendations to the council for improving the administration of justice through comprehensive and high-quality education and training for judicial officers and other judicial branch personnel.

Pending a decision by the Judicial Council on whether to restructure the Judicial Service Advisory Committee and to amend California Rules of Court, rule 10.57, a Working Group on Judicial Pay and Benefits will consult with, advise, directly assist, and make recommendations to the Administrative Director of the Courts, and to the Judicial Council at the request of the Administrative Director, on judicial compensation, nonretirement benefits, and retirement benefits.

The Probate and Mental Health Advisory Committee makes recommendations to the council for improving the administration of justice in proceedings involving (1) decedents' estates, trusts, conservatorships, guardianships, and other probate matters and (2) mental health and developmental disability issues.

The Traffic Advisory Committee works to improve the administration of justice in the area of traffic and bail-forfeitable offense adjudication; identifies policy issues and recommends rules or model procedures that will result in more consistent handling of traffic and bail-forfeitable offenses across the state; and provides analysis in support of policy decisions made by the Judicial Council and the Legislature regarding traffic and bail-forfeitable offense matters.

The Trial Court Presiding Judges Advisory Committee works to enhance trial courts' access to and participation in the Judicial Council's decision-making process; reviews rules, forms, studies, and recommendations on court administration that are proposed to the council and evaluates the administrative and operational impact on the trial courts; identifies issues of concern to the courts, including legislative issues, that are addressed by the council or one of its advisory committees or task forces; and facilitates communication between the council and trial courts.
